

Let's all get a move on Together

COP 21, United Nation's twenty first conference on climate change, will be held in Paris from November the 30th to December the 11th 2015.

In over twenty years, climate negotiations have not been able to produce an ambitious and fair agreement which guarantees the safeguard of the planet from the global rising temperatures and climate justice for all.

The clock is ticking. Climate is our business as well. Let's all get a move on, together.

We are asking our governments a binding agreement to reduce greenhouse gases and to strengthen regions that are vulnerable.

Climate change is putting human lives at risk. Animal species, lands and ecosystems are suffering. New causes of conflict and forced migration are arising. More and more territories in Italy are involved in climate catastrophes.

Organizations, which differ from one another due to historical and cultural factors besides from goals and social reasons, have created the "Italian Climate Coalition" which aims at reaching a high level of sensitization on the fight against climate change in view of the negotiations in Paris.

Restraining global fever, with the decrease of our greenhouse gases emissions, is also a great occasion for sustainable innovation and jobs creation.

Don't let others choose for you. Let's act, together we will be stronger
